MONDAY MORNING OCTOBER 25 1869

The Contest of 1870

It is reasonably certain that with harmonious counsels, good nominations and earnest effort the Republican party can triumph in the political contest soon to commence in our State. In the last campaign the tide was against us from the beginning, for the opposition was emboldened by recent Democratic successes in many of the States and strongly hoped to win a national victory. They had every possible incentive to vigorous and united effort. Reconstruction was still on trial and they expected to defeat it. Impartial suffrage was not an accepted fact, and on this issue they expected to completely overwhelm the Republicans. A Presidential election was impending, and they went into the campaign with enthusiasm, under a settled belief that their party was about to regain control of the Government. Republicans on the other hand were somewhat depressed, for the elections the year before in many of the great States had gone against their party, and ours was the first election of the new campaign. Under these circumstances the opposition took the lead in our State, last year, and kept it. But Republicans will enter the coming contest under more cheering auspices. National questions on trial last year are now fully settled. There can be no further opposition to negro suffrage. All the perplexing questions involved in the reconstruction policy are entirely out of the way. It is very evident that a large majority of the whole people of the country are on the side of the Republican party. This, which was regarded as a matter of doubt at our last election, is now developed into a certainty which no one can gainsay. Therefore Democrats will not contend now with the hope of obtaining an important or general triumph. They lack the incentives which urged them forward in the last campaign, and cannot have the spirit and animation that impelled them to make the special effort which they put forth on that occasion. Beaten at all points they have little to strive for, knowing that a victory here would be barren of results. But with Republicans it is different. A victory for them would mean something more than a mere obtainment of the offices. It would be an endorsement of the admirable administration of President Grant, and a notification to the Republicans of the East that Oregon is with them in upholding the national credit, good government, and the principles contended for in the recent conflict of arms. The elections which have just transpired at the East show conclusively the spirit and purposes of the people. Oregon must join the party which controls the destinies of the country,—wiping out the disaster of last year, and taking a stand with the great array of States which maintain the safe and honorable principles by which the nation is in future to be guided. In the Presidential election there was a majority of but a handful of votes against us, which may be overcome readily enough if proper effort be made. There need be no element of discord among Republicans, to inure to the benefit of the opposition. Let faction everywhere be discountenanced, and the best men in the party be put forward as candidates,—then with hearty effort there should be no doubt of victory.

A Divided Democracy.

"Press the financial question," said Horatio Seymour last year in giving directions to his lieutenants for the campaign. This question has been "pressed" until the party is completely divided. Heretofore the Pendleton wing, by their loud clamor, have succeeded in forcing the party to adopt their unsavory repudiation doctrines. But as Pendleton himself is overwhelmingly defeated on these very issues, the other wing of the party refuse to follow such leadership further, and insist on a change of programme. Pendleton, however, declines to yield; and his call for a convention of the Western Democracy to sustain him and his theory against the "bloated bondholders" who dictate the policy of the party in the Eastern States, is very significant. It implies a division of the party on financial questions as wide as that which took place in its ranks on the slavery question a few years ago. Pendleton's call is the last resource of a man who is ambitious to lead, but who feels the power slipping from his hands. Numerically, his forces are much stronger than those of his Eastern adversaries, but he has a lean exchequer, while their purses are large and plethoric. The question is, can the bondholders gain the ascendant and control the policy of the party? Will it be possible for them to buy up or whip in the repudiators so as to unify the party, on a basis of paying the national debt in gold? It is clear that at present the party is divided and that the Eastern wing does not intend to follow Pendleton further, while it is equally clear that the unterrified Copperhead element is not disposed to submit to the "moneyed aristocracy" represented by Belmont and Company.

In General.

We are solemnly informed by the "Sunday Leader" that treason is one of the blackest of crimes. It is gratifying to observe that a Lost Cause organ has made this discovery at last; though if the discovery had been made by its party five or six years ago it would have been both timely and useful.

The Albany Democrat is encouraged to hope that Ohio will go Democratic in the next election, because the Republican majority now is not so large as it was last fall. Now, while the Democrat has this subject in hand, will it reconcile the present hope with the formidable fact that Gov. Hayes, in the recent election, beat Pendleton by a majority three times as large as that which he obtained over Thurman two years ago?

The Victoria Colonist speaks of the reception by Gov. Musgrave of a dispatch from Earl Granville, urging upon him the expediency of completing the work of British American Confederation by the admission of British Columbia. The Colonist, in view of the settled policy of the British Government on this question, and the manifest tendency of things, urges the people of the Colony to abandon the idea of isolation and come into the Confederacy.

We suppose there are by this time none who will question that Mr Holladay is really building a railroad. The carpers who have been making so much of their doubts on this subject find their occupation gone. Large quantities of material are now arriving for the road, and track laying will probably commence before the close of the present week. Mr Holladay's plans have been laid with a careful purpose to fulfill his promises. Twenty miles of road will be completed within two months, and we doubt not to go to the next State Fair at Salem on the cars.

The Legislature of Tennessee has evinced excellent sense in rejecting Andrew Johnson. Certainly if that State were looking to her own interest she could hardly do worse than to have elected this coarse, domineering and reckless agitator to the United States Senate. Better counsels have prevailed, and the man whose election would have done Tennessee so much injury is rejected. Johnson is a man who is supremely miserable if not in office and as Tennessee don't want him he will have an opportunity to shoulder his carpet bag, and try his fortunes elsewhere.

POLITICAL

Maine correspondents seem confident that Hon Lot M Morrill will be appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator Fessenden.

A Virginia Democratic paper consented to the programme for electing Mr Greeley a Senator for that State if the Legislature would choose Andrew Johnson for his colleague.

A Hamilton paper in Texas reports that Hamilton Stuart, who has been nominated for Governor of the State by some Democratic editors, is disqualified under the Fourteenth Amendment.

John Lusing died in Warsaw, Indiana, on the 6th inst, aged 105. Of course he cast his first vote for Washington and of course he cast his last vote for Grant. All these old gentlemen do.

Horace Greeley, in a letter to an editor in Arkansas, contends that long continued rebel disfranchisement is impossible. There is, he says, a more excellent way, and the Republicans must pioneer it: nothing is safer than magnanimity.

The Norfolk Journal says that a most remarkable but by no means unusual sight in Virginia nowadays, is that of an old fogy who has been dead and buried for years arising from his tomb, shaking off his winding sheet, sitting down to a table and writing a slashing letter on the political situation.

Ex Postmaster General Randall made a speech at a Democratic meeting in Chemung county, New York, the other day, when a vote of thanks was presented to him for joining the Democratic party. Query: How much better off is the Democratic party with these renegades than it was without them?

From the New York Herald: The Democracy of the Metropolitan district are opposed to the new State Constitution and will roll up an immense vote against it. Not so with the Fifteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. Were the hard fisted called on to express their opinion of it the War Democrats would go for it to a man.

Some curious facts appear in the Maine election returns. Brewer, the native place of Governor Chamberlain, threw less than 50 Democratic votes against nearly 400 for him. Lisbon threw 311 Republican votes and not one Democratic. The little town of Maxfield steadily votes 24 Republican year after year and no opposition, while Benedicta, Aroostook county, returns no Republican vote, but "therghty eaight" for Smith.

Says the San Francisco Chronicle: It would seem as though that terrible Fifteenth Amendment had not proved quite as deadly a dose of cold poison to Republicanism as was at one time anticipated. Actually, the Radicals are not squelched. In Ohio, Pennsylvania, Iowa and Nebraska, that fearful dose does not seem to have turned the Radical stomach. Ohio, the State of Pendleton, gulped down the unsavory amendment with no indication of nausea.

Horatio Seymour, the "white man's candidate" of last year, freely acknowledges that he preferred Mr. Chase "as a more available candidate." He says that Hendricks or Hancock would have been acquiesced in, "or even Pendleton, with whom he differed on the financial question," but Mr Chase, the original Abolitionist, seemed to him "the best and strongest candidate he could select." And then our bitter negrophobists of the opposition would have shouted themselves hoarse for the equality of all men.

A Washington dispatch of the 8th gives the following: A curious case was decided by the Internal Revenue Bureau to-day. Some time ago a question was submitted by the Virginia Internal Revenue officials whether sweet potatoes should be considered as grain or fruit. It appears that in Virginia, as in other parts of the Union, doubtless, whisky is made from sweet potatoes. Under a provision of the law stills distilling from fruit are exempt, or subject to a lower tax than manufactories making whisky from grain. Distillation from sweet potatoes is extensively carried on in Virginia, and hence the question. The Commissioner carefully considered the subject, and decided to-day that within the meaning of the act of Congress sweet potatoes must be regarded as grain.

OREGON.

District Court, Boise presiding, convenes this week at Albany.

The State Journal speaks highly of Senator William's recent speech at Eugene City.

S. G. Jenkins, an old resident of Linn county has started for California, where he will reside in future.

McCord & Co, of Albany, took first premiums at the State Fair on seven varieties of soap manufactured by them. This speaks well for the Albany Soap Works.

The Eugene Guard says: "Let Democrats try and keep trying until success crowns our efforts, even if it must be, let us die trying." A fervent "Amen!" to that last exhortation.

The Albany Democrat of Saturday says: Engineer Brooks and party arrived in this city yesterday, on business relating to the new survey of the East Side Railroad through Linn county.

The Salem Press, after a suspension of one week, comes out with a half sheet and says it will not appear again for the space of two weeks. Which being interpreted, probably means that the Press is dead.

The settlers along the route to Yaquina Bay raised thousands of bushels of vegetables this season, and of excellent quality, from which they will realize little or nothing, owing to the distance from market and the difficulties of transportation.

A Jackson county paper states that R H Dunlap, of Ashland, while out on Evans creek found an immense bed of stone coal. The coal is of a superior quality, and in such quantities as to supply this section of country for an unlimited number of years.

From the Eugene Guard: William Osburn one of the proprietors of the Eugene Distilling Co made a sale of his interest therein, (being one fifth) to Norris Humphrey Esq, for twenty five hundred dollars coin. The Company has ceased work for the present, the supply of the article seems to exceed the demand. They will resume operations again this fall.

SHAKESPEARE.—The following acute observations on the greatness of Shakespeare are from a recent essay by E P Whipple:

Shakespeare then as regards his imaginative conceptions has probably never been adequately conceived. He must be tried by his peers and where are his peers? We know that he grows in mental stature as our minds enlarge and as we increase in our knowledge of him, but he has never been included by criticism as other poets have been included. The greatest and most interpretative minds which have made him their study, though they may have commenced with wielding the rod of censure, found themselves seduced into taking seats on the benches anxious to learn, instead of impatient to teach, and have been compelled to admit that the poet who is the delight of the rudest urchin in the pit of the playhouse is also the poet whose works defy the highest faculties of the philosophers thoroughly to comprehend.

The records of the Central Pacific Railroad show that from the 11th to the 17th inst. inclusive—eight days—there were transported from Promontory west one thousand one hundred and twenty seven passengers, the larger portion of whom came to settle permanently in California.

OREGON CITY.—A friend furnishes us the following items, prefacing them with the remark that the weather is superb there, and everything is moving along lively.

Past Grand Sire Stuart of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be in Oregon City to day (Monday). A special meeting of Oregon Lodge No 3 has been called to greet him. Grand Master John M Bacon of this jurisdiction, will travel with him visiting all the subordinates that can be reached in the time allotted for the trip.

The Circuit Court of Oregon for Clackamas county, Judge W W Upton presiding will meet in this city to day, Monday 25th. It promises to be a lively term—for the bailiffs at all events—as there is quite a docket and up to Saturday night but one witness had been summoned. The lawyers will no doubt wish for more time in many of the cases.

All owners of the P T Co in Oregon City were in the "basin" yesterday—Sunday. The Reliance had been up, but was yet in the dry dock. She has been thoroughly reconstructed, and under the careful guidance of Capt. Cochrane, engineer Rube Smith and [illegible] Mc [illegible], will yet for many years accommodate the traveling public and earn money for her owners. The Albany was undergoing repairs yesterday and the writer for the first time comprehended the meaning of the anxious looks of the engineer of one of these boats as she came or went over land during a passage. To the passengers the breaking up of a wheel amounts to no thing so long as they get over the bar—but to the engineer whose duty it is to replace these buckets and re-adjust them "to a dot"—as Charley Church used to say—the smash is no small matter.

Parties left here on the 24th who are to commence laying railroad iron in East Portland to day. They do not expect to return until the rails are all laid over every foot of the road intervening between here and there. A few of us here, who have never failed to appreciate the worth of Mr Holladay to Oregon, and have always credited him for the best of motives, really rejoice at the fact that the work is so nearly completed. Cars will be making regular trips without doubt to Oregon City by December 1st. Work is being pushed under the supervision of Mr Kidder, and what is being done counts. The President of the [illegible] H [illegible] and sub Superintendent W [illegible] were both here on Saturday and we learn that work will not let up day or night until the iron is laid.

Water having been again let into the P T Co's basin the mills, which have been running slack for some time past, now have ample supplies and work with renewed activity. The Island saw mill begins a large contract to day for Mr J W Lewis, the lumber to be used in the construction of an Agricultural Implement Manufactory long since commenced. The Cascade mill has passed into the hands of the O C R R Co. There is a great demand for all kinds and qualities of lumber.

THE ST JAMES MISSION CLAIM.—The following communication was received two or three days since, but was overlooked:

VANCOUVER, W T Oct 21 1869

The Rt. Rev Bishop of Nisqually was never of opinion that the St James Mission claim was of the same stamp as those of squatters and intruders. Therefore he thought there was at least a misunderstanding somewhere, when he was notified by the commanding officer of the Post to quit within sixty days. He was right, for he is now officially informed that the order made by late Gen. Rawlins, Secretary of War, was not intended for any particular case, but to check the common tendency of citizens and other persons to make settlements on the [illegible] reservations. Where legal rights accrued before the title of the reservation the Commanding General of the Military Department will report for special action.

Hence the citizens of this place may see that it became [illegible] to petition the Government to suspend the order to quit within sixty days. Still the step taken by them in this matter, is highly commendable and reflects credit on their charity and love of justice. The Bishop acknowledges their good will, and sincerely thanks them for the petition gotten up by them to solicit from the Government in addition, a final decision of the difficulties with regard to the claim. The Bishop heartily endorses it and thanks to promote the interests of this place. Had such a step been taken several years ago Vancouver would have been more prosperous.

ST JAMES MISSION

SALEM.—Says the Statesman: Deputy Grand Sire Fred D Stuart was received by the Odd Fellows Lodges in Salem, Saturday evening.

[illegible] Brooks & Cross are engaged in sugar-curing one hundred and fifty head of beef cattle.

The road from the north end of Commercial street, the main street of the city, has been opened lately, after [illegible] by litigation.

Trade is [illegible] good in Salem. The pleasant weather and fine state of the roads induces farmers to haul in large quantities of wheat, which is being stored. The market price for wheat at this point is 60 cents per bushel. The supply of home products is abundant and prices [illegible].

The Salem Musical Union advertise a concert for next [illegible] evening at Reeds new Opera House.

[illegible] when Fred D Stuart, the distinguished [illegible] arrival has been announced, was introduced to Rev. J. L. Parrish, that gentleman recognized him as one of the crew of the Peacock, commanded by [illegible] Wilkes, which was wrecked at the mouth of the Columbia river in 1841. Mr Parrish's memory was [illegible] for it seems that Mr Stewart was with the [illegible] and that he assisted to survey the Columbia [illegible] at that early day. This fact makes [illegible] visit to Oregon a pleasant affair to them and [illegible].

PUGET SOUND CUSTOM HOUSE.—The San Francisco [illegible] takes up the cudgel thus, for the [illegible]: "It is to be hoped that the Congressional [illegible], which recently honored this coast with [illegible], will make such report as may effect a [illegible] in the course of legislation. Large [illegible] have been expended to establish branch mints [illegible] localities, where they could be of no [illegible] only to supply places for political pets, [illegible] house of Puget Sound District, the sec[illegible] on this coast, is a miserable barn like [illegible] rickety, worm-eaten, and neither wind [illegible] water, [illegible]. Last year nearly four thousand tons of [illegible] tonnage were turned out from yards there and [illegible] in exports and imports amounted to the [illegible] sum of $3,000,000. The foreign trade movement for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1869, summed up [illegible] of 33,759 tons, and 41 foreign of 16,255 tons a total of 183 vessels, of 58,000 tons. The number of vessels trading between different ports in the Sound, and never leaving the District, is 48, of about 1,800 tons."

RAILWAY RIGHT-OF WAY CASE DECIDED.—Last [illegible] was tried and decided at Hillsboro which [illegible] juries are not disposed to encourage land [illegible] to refuse the right of way to the railroads. The [illegible] road passes through the land of Oliver Clay on [illegible] Prairie, a long narrow piece dividing the [illegible] two long narrow triangular strips, and within [illegible] feet of the house and barn—a case of damages could be found. Clay claimed twenty-seven [illegible] dollars in coin as damage, and the jury gave [illegible] coin. Land holders ought to see that it will [illegible] to fight the railroads and the interests of the whole community. There was no doubt some [illegible] in Clay's claim, but in general, these claims for [illegible] are put up by men whose lands will be doubled in value by the railroad, over and above all possible damage, and who could really afford to give instead of take [illegible] claimed.

[illegible] ACCIDENT—BURSTING OF A CANNON.—As the steamer Geo. S. Wright approached her landing yesterday, the cannon announcing her arrival which was fired as usual, bursted into several pieces. One of the fragments hit the second officer Mr Niblo and [illegible] of his legs below the knee, making a bad [illegible]. Another fragment went through one of the small boats, staving it badly. The ship itself was not much injured though the explosion shook her very [illegible]. The report, to those on shore, sounded [illegible] as loud as the ordinary report of a twelve-pounder. Mr. Niblo was brought up to the American [illegible] where he received the required surgical treatment. The cause of the explosion is supposed to have been the imperfect manner of ramming down the wad [illegible] which stuck fast in the bore leaving a chamber filled with air between itself and the charge of powder.

TRACK LAYING.—The bark Almy arrived Saturday night, and will commence discharging merchandise at [illegible] Flander's wharf to-day. When that part of her freight is out, she will haul over to the railroad wharf in East Portland and put out her railroad iron. Track laying will be commenced as soon as the iron can be taken out. It is hoped, on Thursday. We hear that the first two bars landed will be immediately spiked down and that a car will be mounted upon them. We are not [illegible] as to whether there will be any ceremonies but there will, at all events, be a great many people present if they know the time when the first rail is to be laid, to witness the beginning of the most important [illegible] ever undertaken in Oregon. We hope Mr Holladay will appoint some definite time and have [illegible] when the work will be begun.

ARRIVAL OF THE GEO. S WRIGHT.—The steamship Geo. S. Wright, N L Rodgers commander arrived from Victoria yesterday morning. She left Victoria Friday, October 22d at 10 15 A M arrived at Astoria Oct 23d at 1.30 P M; arrived at Portland 4 o'clock Sunday [illegible]. She brings the following named passengers: [illegible] W P C Stebbins Mr and Mrs P Dean Miss Sarah Dean, Miss Isabella Dean Miss Kate Foster Mr and Mrs Alex Gray, Mr and Mrs Miller and child Capt Williams U S A, Lieut Eschenburg U S A Lieut [illegible] U S A G W Clarke C W Wallace H Winchel [illegible] G W Chadsey and Joseph Evans. Her freight consists of 80 tons Douglas coal to the Portland Gaslight Co., 25 packages merchandise and 9 packages fish to L White & Co to order and to [illegible] Driscoll.

LOCAL BREVITIES.—Mrs Benj Todd lectured last evening, at Oro Fino Theatre on Spiritualism [illegible] She had a good audience.

Several families have recently passed through this city en route from Oregon to Puget Sound.

The alarm of fire on Saturday from the ignition of coal tar in the caldron on Front street [illegible] among the idlers who are getting tired of running to false alarms.

The Workingmen's Association [illegible] have another meeting to-morrow night at the Fireman's Quarters [illegible].

Several famous shootingers of this city went down to Sauvie's Island yesterday [illegible] with the avowed purpose of capturing all the wild game.

FROM THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—By the bark Cambridge we have Honolulu papers to Sept. 23d from which we get the following:

The bark Hahnemann and brig Robt. Cowan arrived Sept 19th and 20th with cargoes of lumber from Puget Sound [illegible] for Hawaiian sugars are [illegible] 12@12½c [illegible] 9@11c dark 7@8c with little or no calls for the [illegible] lower grades. Molasses not wanted—nominal quotations [illegible] Pulu is not in demand. Rice is jobbing in small lots, 10c. Kona Coffee, 17½@18c.

The Royal Hawaiian Agricultural Society has resolved to dissolve and surrender its charter and estate to the Government, the latter to pay the Society's liabilities.

[illegible]—There is a message in the telegraph office for N. B. Scranton.

EAST PORTLAND.—The (Herald) says: Surveyor Burrage is engaged in surveying Aiken's Addition to East Portland commencing at the east rn boundary of the town plat.

A force of men are engaged in clearing the property in East Portland belonging to the Salem Homestead Association.

A raft of heavy timber came down the river this morning, from the saw mill of the East Side Railroad Company, to be used in the construction of the East Side road.

The parsonage attached to the M E Church is nearly finished and will be ready for occupancy [illegible].

LANDS FOR SALE AT THE R R TERMINUS.—Mr [illegible] is still [illegible] advertise [illegible] several parcels [illegible] sale at [illegible] effect that [illegible] of the Directors of the North [illegible] Railroad these lands are desirable—good property even if the road [illegible] be built within ten years.

One week from next Wednesday Mr A B Richardson will sell for them [illegible] city and country [illegible]. See advertisement in OREGONIAN.

PROF. MAXIMILIAN.—This magician [illegible] performed several difficult tricks at the theater very successfully after the play was over Saturday evening. [illegible] morning [illegible] Olympus [illegible] places. [illegible] sures, and will give [illegible] thousand dollars who will [illegible] to him that he [illegible] himself.

CLARKE COUNTY FAIR.—Persons who went from this city to Vancouver on Friday and Saturday to attend the county fair report that it was not up to their expectations. They had probably not reflected that Clarke county is a new and sparsely settled country. In most part [illegible] exhibition under the circumstances ought to be satisfactory.

HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method for connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient safe and secure.

It is easy to change the old style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all [illegible]. We consider it far superior to the Hewston Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

THE EQUALIZER!
Treating Disease by Vacuum
DR. H. A. BODMAN

HAVING PURCHASED HADFIELD'S EQUALIZER, and the Patent Right for Multnomah county would respectfully inform his friends and the public generally that he is prepared to treat successfully those Chronic cases on whom all other [illegible] of cure have failed.

Having used this [illegible] with his former practice for about three months, he is satisfied that it will accomplish all that is claimed for it in curing Chronic Diseases. He does not believe in the system of advertising cases cured, but any number of such may be seen on record at his office, [illegible] of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Curvature of the Spine, Nervous Debility, Dyspepsia, Weak Chests, Asthma, Narrow Chests, Weak Lungs, Weak Ankles, Weak, Stiff and Rheumatic Limbs, Sciatica, [illegible] Epilepsy, Palsy, St Vitus Dance, Prolapsus Uteri, Contracted Muscles, with all their [illegible] and all kinds of weakness of the Generative Organs, Spermatorrhœa [illegible] cured in from four to six weeks without medicine.

He uses other [illegible] when necessary, but the Equalizer generally [illegible] the cure without the aid of any medicine whatever. It brings a quickened circulation and nutrition to all weak parts, thus imparting new life and tone, and health, and strength to the parts. It breaks up congestion and inflammation by equalizing the circulation throughout every part of the system.

Give it a fair trial and you will be satisfied with the results. It has been examined by thousands of physicians of all Schools of Medicine, and there has not been one dissenting voice to the correctness of the principle; all acknowledge that it fills a vacancy in the Science of Medicine.

Mormon Felicity

Our readers will remember the letter of a correspondent from Salt Lake City, in which he so vividly portrayed the situation of affairs at the headquarters of Mormondom the schism which is apparently rending the church of the Latter Day Saints and the discussion which took place between Brigham Young and those deluded young men the Smiths. A second account has been received from another correspondent and as it contains some interesting developments not heretofore published we will lay them before our readers. Our correspondent attended a meeting at which the learned Joseph Smith was the orator and from his letter we extract the following

He proceeded to inform the people that he would not lift his hand or raise his voice to save any member of the church from going overboard—to eternal damnation. He argued that no member of the church was justified in listening to such abominable teachings "for," says he "we are of the right faith now. We know it and therefore there is no room for argument. We know this I say. If we didn't we might want to study into every doctrine that comes along. But as we know we have found the truth, as there can be no doubt whatever of it, we have no business listening to such trash as certain persons are trying to teach. Why they are on the road to hell as straight as straight can be, and if there are any of this people weak enough to be led off by them, I say let them go and be damned!" The sermon met with very general approbation. From first to last it was a familiar rough talk; many parts of which being such vulgarity as would not bear to be repeated. The speaker referred to the blessings of polygamy in the following language

"Now I'll tell you, my friends, when I had but one wife there was no peace. I was pulled here and there and everywhere. I couldn't say good morning to Sister A or shake hands with Sister B, without the devil was to pay! Now, with three wives, there's peace and harmony and love, and life is made one of continual sunshine and joy. What causes all this difference? I can tell you. My first wife was a bad woman, and I'm glad I'm rid of her! The devil was in her, and there was no counteracting influence."

This language will sound strangely enough to many in the East but is such as can be heard from almost any pulpit in the city at "religious" service. On this particular occasion there was not in the entire discourse one breath, one sentence appealing to the the finer, purer feelings of the intelligent. It was from beginning to end marked by that confident assertion that carries so much weight with such an audience. This is the mode of reasoning adopted by a man of unusual intelligence and decency for a Mormon. We have heard hundreds of this sort, and no matter how clear they seem to be on everything else, they are wild in their logic when speaking on these matters.

The doctrines of Hyrum Smith, urged with a rare eloquence, are growing in favor among these people, and we doubt whether the tact and individual magnetism of Brigham Young will avail in the protection of his tenets against the assaults of this earnest fanatic. With the fall of Brigham, polygamy, the very tap root of Mormonism will languish, and finally perish. It is only by reason of the fact that his whole personality is merged in the church, that he has been enabled so long to govern with despotic power the heterogeneous mass of human beings which has collected about him. No less a despot than Louis Napoleon, both, "grand and peculiar," calmly await the inevitable approach of that day which shall proclaim them the last of their dynasties.—Exchange.

Another Proof of the Old Adage, "Murder Will Out."—It is now forty years ago or more that the dead body of a stranger was found in the woods near Stonybrook Bridge, about one mile to the east of Pennington, a village of this county. We were a child then, residing near said village, and remember the circumstance well. It was an incident to make a lasting impression in a quiet rural neighborhood. Years later when we boys used to go in to swim in that locality, more or less fears were always excited by reference to the circumstance, for boyhood as well as age is superstitious. Nobody believes in ghosts, and yet almost everybody is afraid of them! The body was found in a sitting posture against a beech tree. The face was distorted, the eyes protruding as though the dead man had died in agony. His hat lay a few feet from him. His dress betokened one in comfortable circumstances. He was a stranger, and no one ever remembered to have ever seen him. There was no money upon the corpse. The body, without special examination, was buried, we forget where. There were no wounds upon the body, and no evidence of violence. At that day public scrutiny was not so acute in reference to the mysterious dead, and no verdict of supposed murder was rendered. And now comes the strange elucidation of the case. A few days since accident placed in our hands a copy of the Manchester (England) Examiner. In that number we found the dying confession of a man named Daniel Hulseman, acknowledging to a murder perpetrated forty years ago in the State of New Jersey, United States of America. The murdered man's name was James Eberhart. The murderer was acquainted with his victim in the old country, and came out about one year before him. Hulseman was a tanner and worked in New York. When Eberhart came over he sought out his old acquaintance. He had about £200 in money. Under pretence of examining the country and purchasing land, Hulseman started with Eberhart on a tour through New Jersey. He had with him a flask of poisoned brandy, as he resolved to murder his friend for his money. They first stopped at Princeton, and then concluded to walk across the intervening nine miles to Pennington the weather being pleasant, and public travel being greatly circumscribed. When within a mile of the latter place, they stepped over into the woods under a tree, to partake of some victuals they had procured before starting. Hulseman then passed his flask to his companion, who drank liberally and died within an hour thereafter in fearful agony. Hulseman looked on all the while. He then robbed him of his money, and set him up against the tree, as before described. There are still old men about Princeton who will remember this event. It seems almost marvelous that after the lapse of forty years this affair should have come to light by a deathbed confession, three thousand miles from the place of commission. And yet it is even so.—Trenton Sentinel, Oct 6th.

The San José (Cal) Mercury of the 19th inst says: About seven months ago, Mrs. Frank Burgess, of Santa Clara, in kneeling down for the purpose of religious devotion, knelt on the edge of a spring to her hoop skirt. She experienced some little pain in the knee at the time, but thought it no serious matter. However the limb commenced swelling and became inflamed, causing her intense suffering. It continued to grow worse until Wednesday last, when her physicians determined that the amputation of the limb was necessary to save the woman's life. The operation was performed and the lady, although much reduced, is in a fair way to recover.
